Introduction

Welcome to Work on your Grammar – Pre-intermediate (A2).

Is this the right book for me?

This book, Work on your Grammar – Pre-intermediate (A2), helps students to learn and practise English grammar at CEF level A2. This book is suitable for you to use if you are at CEF level A2, or just below.

So, what is CEF level A2? Well, there are six Common European Framework levels. They go up from A1 for beginners, A2, B1, B2, C1 and finally C2.

If the description below sounds like you, then this is probably the right book for you. If not, choose Work on your Grammar – Elementary (A1), below this level, or Work on your Grammar – Intermediate (B1), above this level.

- I can understand and use sentences about my daily life and many common topics, such as work, family, shopping, geography, and so on.
- I can talk and write in a basic way, asking questions and explaining what I need.
- I know I make mistakes, but I try to talk about the past, present and future.

What does this book contain?

This book contains 30 units to help you learn and practise important grammar for this pre-intermediate (A2) level.

Each unit explains the grammar point and then there is a series of exercises that gives you useful practice in this particular area. The exercises are there to help you really understand the grammar point and how to use it correctly. There are different types of exercise. This helps you to see different aspects of the grammar, and it means you have a range of practice to do.

The answers to all the exercises are at the back of the book.

Remember! boxes highlight important information about the grammar points, so it is a good idea to read them and think about them.

I'm a student: how can I use this book?

You can use this book in different ways. It depends on your needs, and the time that you have.

- If you have a teacher, he or she may give you some advice about using the book.
- If you are working alone, you may decide to study the complete book from beginning to end, starting with Unit 1 and working your way through to the end.
- You might find that it is better to choose which units you need to study first, which might not be the first units in the book. Take control of what you learn and choose the units you feel are the most important for you.

- You may also decide to use the book for reference when you are not sure about a particular grammar point.
- You can find what you want to learn about by looking at the Contents page.
- Please note that, if you do not understand something in one unit, you may need to study a unit earlier in the book, which will give you more information.

Study tips

- 1 Read the aim and introduction to the unit carefully.
- 2 Read the explanation. Sometimes there is a short text or dialogue; sometimes there are tables of information; sometimes there are examples with notes. These are to help you understand the most important information about this grammar point.
- 3 Don't read the explanation too quickly: spend time trying to understand it as well as you can. If you don't understand, read it again more slowly.
- 4 Do the exercises. Don't do them too quickly: think carefully about the answers. If you don't feel sure, look at the explanation again. Write your answers in pencil, or, even better, on a separate piece of paper. (This means that you can do the exercises again later.)
- 5 Check your answers to the exercises using the Answer key at the back of the book.
- 6 If you get every answer correct, congratulations! Don't worry if you make some mistakes. Studying your mistakes is an important part of learning.
- 7 Look carefully at each mistake: can you now see why the correct answer is what it is?
- 8 Read the explanation again to help you understand.
- 9 Finally, if the unit includes a Remember! box, then try really hard to remember what it says. It contains a special piece of information about the grammar point.
- 10 Always return: come back and do the unit's exercises again a few days later. This helps you to keep the information in your head for longer.

I want to improve my grammar

Good! Only using one book won't be enough to really make your grammar improve. The most important thing is you!

Of course, you need to have a paper or electronic notebook. Try these six techniques for getting the best from it.

- Make it real: It's probably easier to remember examples than it is to remember rules. Often, it's better to try to learn the examples of the grammar, not the explanations themselves.
 For example, rather than memorizing 'You can use the present simple to talk about the future', you should learn 'My holiday starts on Monday'.
- Make it personal: When you're learning a new structure or function, try to write some examples about yourself or people or places you know. It's easier to remember sentences about your past than someone else's! For example, 'I'm studying art this year'.
- Look out: Everything you read or hear in English may contain some examples of the new grammar you're learning. Try to notice these examples. Also, try to write down some of these examples, so that you can learn them.

- Everywhere you go: Take your notebook with you. Use spare moments, such as when you're waiting for a friend to arrive. Read through your notes. Try to repeat things from memory.
 A few minutes here and there adds up to a useful learning system.
- Take it further: Don't just learn the examples in the book. Keep making your own examples and learning those.
- Don't stop: It's really important to keep learning. If you don't keep practising, you won't remember for very long. Practise the new grammar today, tomorrow, the next day, a week later and a month later.

I'm a teacher: how can I use this book with my classes?

The content of this book has been very carefully selected by experts from Language Testing 123, using the Common European Framework for Reference, English Profile, the British Council Core Inventory, the Collins Corpus and material created for Collins COBUILD English Grammar, Collins COBUILD Pocket English Grammar and Collins COBUILD English Usage. As such, it represents a useful body of knowledge for students to acquire at this level. The language used is designed to be of effective general relevance and interest to any learner aged 14+.

The exercises use a range of types to engage with students and to usefully practise what they have learnt from the explanation pages. There are a lot of exercises in each unit so it is not necessary for students to do all the exercises at one sitting. Rather, you may wish to return in later sessions to complete the remaining exercises.

The book will be a valuable self-study resource for students studying on their own. You can also integrate it into your teaching.

The explanations and exercises are designed for self-study, but they can be easily adapted to provide useful interactive work for your students in class.

You can use the units in the book to extend, back up or consolidate language work you are doing in class. The Contents will help you choose which units are most appropriate.

You may also find that you recommend certain units to students who are experiencing particular difficulty with specific language areas. Alternatively, you may use various units in the book as an aid to revision.

Lesson plan

- 1 Read the aim and introduction to the unit carefully: is it what you want your students to focus on? Make sure the students understand it.
- 2 Go through the explanation with your students. You may read it aloud to them, or ask them to read it silently to themselves. With a confident class, you could ask them to read some of it aloud.
- 3 If there is a dialogue, you could ask students to perform it. If there is a text, you could extend it in some way that makes it particularly relevant to your students. Certainly, you should provide a pronunciation model of focus language.
- 4 Take time over the explanation page, and check students' understanding using concept-checking questions. The questions will vary according to content, but they may be based on checking the time in verb tenses. For example, with the sentence, 'She came on the train that got here yesterday,' you could ask, 'When did she arrive?' This might elicit the - correct answer 'yesterday' and the incorrect answer 'tomorrow', and you would know if your students understood the meaning of the past simple verb. Or you could ask, 'Where is she now?' and correct answers would include 'here' while incorrect answers would include 'on the train'.

- 5 Perhaps do the first exercise together with the class. Don't do it too quickly: encourage students to think carefully about the answers. If they don't feel sure, look together at the explanation again.
- 6 Now get students to do the other exercises. They can work alone, or perhaps in pairs, discussing the answers. This will involve useful speaking practice and also more careful consideration of the information. Tell students to write their answers in pencil, or, even better, on a separate piece of paper. (This means that they can do the exercises again later.)
- 7 Check their answers to the exercises using the Answer key at the back of the book. Discuss the questions and problems they have.
- 8 If the unit includes a Remember! box, then tell students to try really hard to remember what it says. It contains a special piece of information about the grammar point.
- 9 Depending on your class and the time available, there are different ways you could extend the learning. If one of the exercises is in the form of an email, you could ask your students to write a reply to it. If the exercises are using spoken language, then you can ask students to practise these as bits of conversation. They can rewrite the exercises with sentences that are about themselves and each other. Maybe pairs of students can write an exercise of their own together and these can be distributed around the class. Maybe they can write short stories or dialogues including the focus language and perform these to the class.
- 10 Discuss with the class what notes they should make about the language in the unit. Encourage them to make effective notes, perhaps demonstrating this on the board for them, and/or sharing different ideas from the class.
- 11 Always return: come back and repeat at least some of the unit's exercises again a few days later. This helps your students to keep the information in their heads for longer.

Present continuous, present simple and will

Talking about the future

In this unit you learn to use different tenses to talk about the future. You learn when you use the present continuous, the present simple and will.

Sophie Hi, Tom. What are you doing this weekend?

Tom I'm visiting my sister in London. The train leaves in a few minutes. I'll text you when I get there.

Sophie OK. Have a great time!

When you talk about plans for the future, you often use the present continuous.

What are you doing this weekend?

I'm getting the train to London this afternoon.

We're going to that new restaurant tonight.

When you talk about something in the future which happens at a definite time, you often use the present simple. You often use a time expression too.

The train leaves in a few minutes.

My holiday starts on Monday.

When do your exams finish?

When you promise or offer to do something in the future, you use will.

I'll text you when I get there.

I'll give it back to you next week.

You can also use will when you are sure about something in the future.

She's working late tonight. She'll be home after 7.00.

We won't be at school tomorrow. It's a holiday.

Remember!

There are three forms of will:

You can use either will or 'll. These forms do not change.

I'll / I will see you next week.

They'll be here at 6 p.m.

negative

You can use either will not or won't. These forms do not change.

She won't / will not be here until this evening.

We won't / will not be very late.

question

Will you call me when you get there?

Will we be home by tomorrow?

Exercise 1

Write the present continuous form of the verb in brackets to complete each sentence, as shown.

- 1 Next weekend we are visiting (visit) my sister in Brisbane.
- 2 | am seeing (see) Rachel on Saturday.
- 3 Jane and I are going out (go out) tonight.
- 4 Martha is swimming (swim) this afternoon.
- 5 We are having (have) a Halloween party on Saturday.
- 6 | am taking (take) Sophie out for a birthday dinner tonight.

Exercise 2

Present perfect

Talking about the past and present together

have + past participle

In this unit you learn ways to talk about the past and present together using the present perfect.

Form of the present perfect

Have + past participle

The past participle of regular verbs is formed by adding -ed to the infinitive.

Infinitive	Past participle	Example
cook	cooked	He has cooked dinner for us.
work	worked	Have you worked hard today?
finish	finished	She hasn't finished it.

Remember!

You can use a short form of have.

I've = I have he's = he has they haven't = they have not she hasn't = she has not

we've = we have

• If the infinitive ends in -e, you add only -d.

Infinitive	Past participle
live	lived

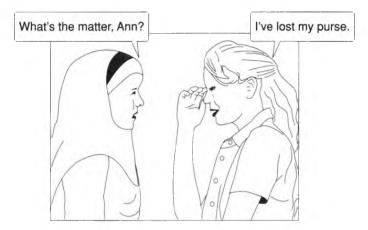

• Many common verbs have irregular forms. Here are a few.

Infinitive	Past participle
be	been
have	had
go	gone
see	seen
eat	eaten

Uses of the present perfect

You can use the present perfect

• to talk about something that happened in the past but that is still important in the present:

- to describe something that started in the past and is still happening now:
 - A: Do you know this part of town?
 - B: Yes, I've lived here for ten years.
- to talk about things you have done at some time in the past:
 - I've been to America three times.
 - I've never read any Harry Potter books.
- with just to talk about the recent past:
 - I've just finished my exams. I'm so happy.
 - A: Do you want some of my chocolate?
 - B: No thanks, I've just eaten.
- with ever to ask questions to find out things that people have done:
 - A: Have you ever eaten Japanese food?
 - B: Yes, many times.
- with yet and already:
 - Have you done your homework yet?
 - Don't tell me what happens at the end of the film. I haven't seen it yet.
 - We don't need any more milk. I've already bought some.

Remember!

You use already in positive sentences, and yet in negative sentences and questions.

• with for (for a period of time) or since (from a point in time):

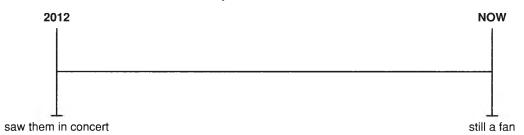

He's worked there for three months.

She's been a fan since she saw them in concert.

Present perfect with been and gone

Look at these examples:

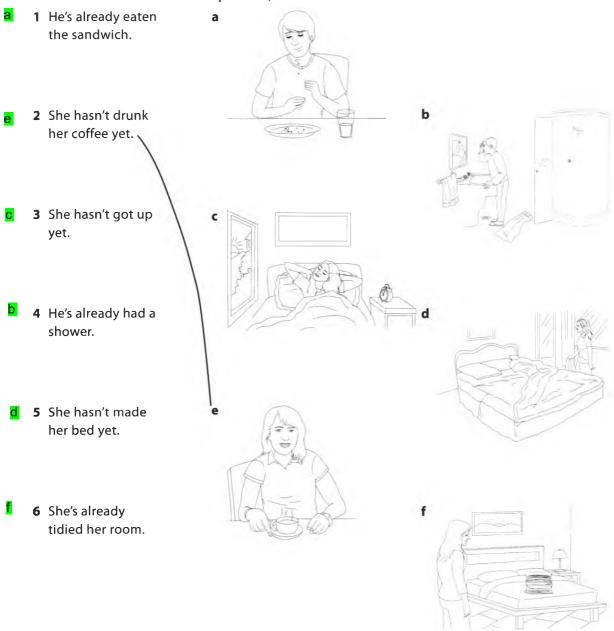

Sam's gone to the shops to buy a newspaper. He'll be back in a few minutes.

This means that Sam is still at the shops.

Julia's been to the shops so we've got enough food for dinner.

This means that Julia has gone to the shops and come back.

Match the sentences with the pictures, as shown.

Exercise 2

Match the sentence halves.

- 1 Jack has worked in the same office for
- 2 I've lived in the same house since
- 3 They've been in love since
- f 4 The food has been in the microwave for
- 5 Sarah has been away at university since
- a 6 Tim's brother has been good at maths since

- a he was five.
- b she started last term.
- c they met at school.
- d three years.
- e I was born.
- f three minutes.

Choose the correct word.

- 1 Have you never / ever eaten fish and chips?
- 2 I've ever / never been to the US.
- 3 Tessa has gever lever had a cold.
- 4 Has Ben ever / never worked in an office?
- 5 Have Mary and Bill ever / never invited you to their home?
- 6 Amy's teachers have never/ ever known such a clever student.

Exercise 4

Match the sentence halves.

- d 1 He's already put
- b 2 She hasn't had
- 3 He's already cleaned
- e 4 It hasn't stopped
- f 5 She's already taken
- 6 He hasn't gone

- a to work yet.
- b breakfast yet.
- c the car.
- d the dishes in the cupboard.
- e raining yet.
- f the dog for a walk.

Exercise 5

Choose the correct word.

- 1 Sally isn't here. She's gone / been to the bank.
- 2 I'm tired because I've just been / gone for a swim.
- 3 Kevin's back now he's just been / gone to the supermarket.
- 4 Rita's gone / been to buy some lunch. She'll be back in a minute.
- 5 Have you ever gone been to the mountains?
- 6 Tom has been / gone to a meeting, so he won't be in the office today.

Exercise 6

Which sentences are correct?

6 Claire hasn't had her lunch yet.

1 Donald has lived in France since two years.
2 I've known my friend Sasha for a long time.
3 Liz has never learnt to swim.
4 Sarah has ever been to China.
5 Peter has washed already the dishes.

Prepositions

Using prepositions after certain verbs

In this unit you learn about which preposition you use after some common verbs. You also learn which common verbs have no preposition after them.

To: David

From: Alice

Subject: Last night

Hi David

How are you? I was very busy yesterday evening. I listened to music for a few minutes but my mum shouted at me because it was too loud. Then I talked to some friends on the phone. We talked about music and films.

Then I wrote an email to my friend in Australia. She's just got engaged to her boyfriend and she's marrying him next year.

After that I watched a funny DVD and laughed at all the jokes. I borrowed it from the library. I can lend it to you if you like.

Speak to you soon.

Alice

Read the email. The table below shows you which prepositions are used with which verbs, or if prepositions are needed at all.

Verb	Preposition(s)
agree	with / to arrive	at / in laugh	at listen	to look	at shout	at hear	-
smile	at ask	-
talk	to, about

Verb	Preposition(s)
speak	to / about
tell	-
think	about
watch	_
write	about, to lend	to

get / be engaged	to
get / be married	to marry	_

discuss and agree

I discussed the holiday with my parents. He agreed with everything I said.

speak and tell

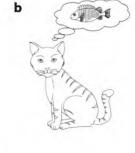

I spoke to him about the job. I told him about my plans.

Exercise 1

Match the sentences with the pictures.

- 1 He's looking at the cat.
- She's listening to music.
- 3 It's thinking about food.
- 4 They're laughing at the TV programme.
- 5 They're getting married.
- 6 They're arriving at school.

Match the sentence halves.

- 1 They wrote notes
- 2 We all agree
- 3 Fred borrowed some money
- d 4 We were discussing
- 6 S Rachel is looking
- 6 The man shouted

- a from friends.
- b 'Come here!' to the cat.
- c with you.
- d our plans for next year.
- e at the holiday photos.
- f to their friends.

Exercise 3

Choose the correct word.

- 1 Hent some money to / from my friend.
- 2 You need to talk about / to Ellie and ask her to help you.
- 3 That girl is smiling of /atme!
- 4 Steve agreed with Carlos about their trip.
- 5 I'm going to write about / to my friend Teresa and tell her the news.
- 6 We all laughed at / to the funny film.

Exercise 4

Put the correct word in each gap.

Thanks for your email. I 1______ with you about the date of our team meeting – the 22nd will be much better than the 16th as we're all so busy at the moment. I'm going to 2______ Heinrich Schmidt if he can come to the meeting. He can 3_____ us all about the recent business trips he's been on. We can also 4_____ the film that he made. Is there anything else you 5_____ we need to 6_____ about together at the meeting?

Alex

Put the correct word in each gap.

A little and a few

Using (a) little and (a) few when talking about things

In this unit you learn about words used to talk about quantity.

Maggie We're cooking tonight. Let's see how much food we've got.

Daniel OK. We've got plenty of rice and lots of tomatoes. We've also got several onions.

Maggie Great! How about cheese?

Daniel Well, we've only got a little and there are only only a couple of eggs. I think we need three or four. And there are hardly any mushrooms.

Maggie OK so we need to buy eggs, cheese and a few mushrooms.

The table below shows you which phrases are used to show a lot or not much/many.

A lot	Not much/many a lot of	a little
plenty of	very little
lots of	only a couple of
several	hardly any
	a few

• You use a little / little before uncountable nouns and a few / few before countable nouns:

There's only a little food in the fridge.

I bought a few books yesterday.

• These sentences show the difference between few, a few, little and a little:

I have few friends. = I don't have many friends.

I have a few DVDs. = I have some DVDs.

There was very little food left at the end of the party. = There wasn't much food left.

There was a little food left at the end of the party. = There was some food left.

You can only use several and a couple of before countable nouns:

There are a couple of people waiting for you.

I've been to several football matches this year.

Possessive pronouns

Using pronouns to show who things belong to mine, yours, his, hers, ours, theirs; one/ones; no/none

In this unit you learn to use pronouns to talk about who things belong to. You also learn about using one, ones, no and none.

You use possessive pronouns (mine, yours, his, hers, ours, theirs) when you talk about who things belong to.

It's not my DVD. It's his.

See that car over there. It's ours.

Give me back that book. It's mine!

You can also use of before a possessive pronoun.

I know Fiona very well. She's a very good friend of mine.

Is it true that our new teacher is a neighbour of yours?

Subject pronoun	Possessive pronoun
I	mine
you	yours
he	his

Possessive 's and s'

Using s to show who things belong to

's/s' + people, things, places

In this unit you learn to talk about who things belong to using 's, s' and of. You also learn some more irregular forms for plural nouns.

Use of the apostrophe ('s and s')

You use 's and s' to talk about people's possessions and their relation to each other.

Silvia is David's wife.

Anna and Mark are Jane's cousins.

My parents' best friends live in Canada.

Sometimes, when the meaning is clear, you can use 's without a noun.

I've seen that car before. It's Diana's.

Rob is at Tom's. (= Tom's house)

If a name ends in s, you just add the apostrophe ' to show possession.

I think James' painting is better than mine.

Remember!

You use of + noun, not 's to talk about objects.

The walls of the house are green.

There's a button at the back of the computer.

You can also talk about times and places using 's and s'.

I've just got three days' work in a shop.

Bob's lucky. He's having a week's holiday next month.

London's shopping centres are very busy in December.

Articles and other words before nouns

both/all; a/the; zero article

In this unit you learn about using articles (a and the) before nouns. You also learn about using both and all, every, other, another and no before nouns.

Some uses of a and the

You use the when

• it is clear which person or thing you are talking about:

The street's very empty tonight. I put the keys on the fridge.

• there is only one of these people or things:

I saw the president on TV yesterday. The moon is very bright tonight.

You use a when

• you have not talked about something before:

I saw a good film yesterday. I think I need a new phone.

you say what jobs people do:

My brother's a famous footballer. She's training to be a doctor.

Sometimes there is no article before a noun

	at work, at home	I'm going to	work
	in bed		bed
Cl/-	at school, college, university		school, college, university
She's	in hospital		hospital
	in prison		prison
	in church		church

BUT

the cinema
the theatre
She's at the bank
the post office
the doctor's, etc.

My aunt's not very well. She's in hospital. I'll be at school until 6 p.m. today. Anna's going to the cinema this evening.

Remember!

He goes to school at 8 a.m. He gets home at 6 p.m.

Words used to express quantity (how much)

You use both and all before a plural noun. You only use both to describe two people or things.

I watched two DVDs last night. They were both fantastic.

I really want to go to the party. All my friends will be there.

He spent all his money at the shopping centre.

You use every before a singular noun.

We go to Spain on holiday every year.

You use another before a singular noun and other before a plural noun. You can use words like some, any, many and lots of before other.

Would you like another drink?

Don't worry. There'll be some other people you know there.

Have you visited any other countries?

Remember!

no and any

I haven't got any time to do my homework. (negative verb)

Past continuous

Talking about two events in the past

was/were + -ing

In this unit you learn about using the past continuous to talk about the past.

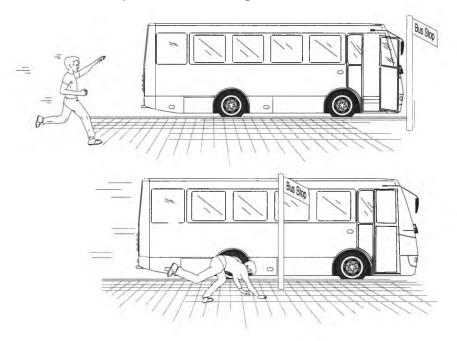

What was everybody doing when the clock struck midnight?

Anna was laughing at something and her sister, Helen, was sleeping in a chair. Helen's husband was drinking a glass of lemonade and his brother was dancing with his wife. Helen's two children were watching a film on TV.

You use the past continuous to describe continuous actions in the past.

I/he/she	was/wasn't	sleeping dancing watching TV reading working	all night.
you/we/they	were/weren't
Was	I/he/she		all night?
Were	you/we/they

You can use the past continuous with the past simple to compare two actions. You use the past continuous when you describe the longer action.

William was running to catch a bus when he fell over.

You can compare the two actions using when, while and as.

I was swimming in the sea when it started raining. I texted my friend while I was waiting for the bus. As I was leaving home, the phone rang.

You can put the two parts of these sentences in a different order:

When it started raining I was swimming in the sea.

Remember!

You use when before the past simple and while or as before the past continuous.

Adjectives

Talking about people and things, and comparatives and superlatives be + adjective + preposition

In this unit you learn to use adjectives to talk about people and things. You also learn more about comparative and superlative forms.

When you want to describe people or things, you can use the verb be and an adjective.

I'm cold.

She's kind.

You can use adverbs like very and really in front of many adjectives.

Paul's very tall.

These questions are really important.

Adjectives have comparative (taller) and superlative (the tallest) forms, so you can compare two things or people.

John's house is older than mine.

She's the tallest girl in the school.

For most longer adjectives, you say more or the most before the adjective.

I think geography is more interesting than chemistry.

Clara is the most beautiful girl I know.

You can make comparisons using not as ... as ..., less ... than ... and the least

• not as ... as ...

Simon isn't as intelligent as Anna. (Anna is more intelligent than Simon.)

• less ... than ...

You can also use less ... than ... with most longer adjectives.

Reading books is less interesting than playing computer games. (Playing computer games is more interesting than reading books.)

• the least ...

Why don't you buy these shoes? They're the least expensive. (the cheapest)

Some adjectives are different from the examples above.

Adjective	Comparative	Superlative
good	better	best
bad	worse	worst

You need to use a preposition after some common adjectives.

Preposition	Adjective
at	good at, the worst at
of	fond of, afraid of
with	angry with, friendly with about	worried about, excited about
to	kind to, unkind to

I was always good at maths at school.

My mum's really afraid of spiders.

I was late for school and my teacher was very angry with me.

I'm really excited about my holidays.

Sam was very kind to me on my first day at work.

My brother's better at tennis than me.

- 4 Sally sees Anna.

Answers: 7'9'5'L'8'L'E'7

- 5 Anna feeds the cats.
- 6 Sally gets back.
- 7 Sally texts Anna again.
- 8 The plane lands.

You use before and after with a verb to show when things happen.

He did his homework before he had dinner.

He did his homework after he had dinner.

You use when to show that one thing happens right after another.

She opened her presents when she woke up.

He turned on his computer when he got home.

You use while to show that one thing happens at the same time as another thing.

He usually does his homework while he watches TV.

She borrowed my car while I was on holiday.

You can also begin the sentence with when, while, before, after.

When he got home, he turned on his computer.

While I was on holiday, she borrowed my car.

If, although and to

If + present simple followed by will.

If we hurry, we'll get there on time.

If you don't want that sandwich, I'll eat it.

Look at these two sentences:

- A: If I see him, I'll tell him where you are.
- B: When I see him, I'll tell him where you are.

In sentence A, I am not sure if I will see him. In sentence B, I am sure.

Notice that after if and when here, we use the present simple, not will.

You can also put if in the second part of the sentence.

I'll cook the dinner if you go to the shops.

You use although to show that something makes you surprised.

Although he was very old, he could run very fast.

Although she didn't have much money, she bought an expensive phone.

You can also use though instead of although.

You use to + infinitive when you talk about the purpose of an action.

I went to Milan to see a football match.

I'm doing a course to learn Chinese.

Exercise 1

Zero and first conditionals

Talking about if something happens

Zero conditional: If + present simple + present simple

First conditional: If + present simple + will will + if + present simple

In this unit you learn which tenses to use in conditional sentences with if. You learn about the zero conditional and the first conditional.

Zero conditional

To: Sophie

From: Anna

Subject: Sammy

Hi Sophie

I want to tell you about my baby brother, Sammy. He's lovely. If I smile at him, he laughs and if I wave at him, he waves back at me. If I give him a toy, he throws it on the ground! He takes a long time to get to sleep but if I sing to him, he falls asleep more quickly.

He's so sweet. You must come and see him soon!

Anna

Read the email. The table below shows you what Anna does and then what the baby does.

	What Anna does	What the baby does
	she smiles at him,	he laughs.
If	she waves at him,	he waves back at her.
	she gives him a toy,	he throws it on the ground
	she sings to him,	he falls asleep more quickly.

You use this structure when you talk about something that is always true. It is called the zero conditional.

If + present simple + present simple

If you heat water, it boils.

Present simple + if + present simple

You get fat if you eat too much chocolate.

First conditional

If + present simple + will will + if + present simple

If you ask me questions, it will help you to understand.

If you don't do your homework, you won't pass your exams.

You'll learn lots of new words if you start reading books in English.

You use the first conditional to talk about things that can happen in the future.

If	Present simple	Will
If you take a map,		you won't get lost.
lf	you work hard,	you'll pass your exams.
lf	Stuart drives,	I'll walk.

You can also put the part of the sentence with if second.

You won't get lost if you take a map.

Remember!

Notice that after if you use the present simple, not will.

If you remember this, you'll do well!

Exercise 1

Adverb position

Using adverbs correctly in sentences

In this unit you learn about where you put adverbs in different kinds of sentences.

Position of frequency (how often) adverbs

Frequency adverbs (always, often, sometimes, occasionally, etc.) usually go before the verb.

He always plays his music too loud.

You never call me.

However, they go after am, is, are, was, were.

He's occasionally out when I call him.

She's usually late for school.

If the verb has two parts, the adverb goes between the two verbs.

I'll never go there again.

She's always liked him.

I can't ever find my keys.

Position of place (where) and manner (how) adverbs

You usually put these after the phrase they describe.

Place

They put the TV in the corner of the room. I put your keys on top of the fridge. He's left his glasses upstairs.

Manner

She opened the door quietly. He opened his presents quickly.

Position of time (when) adverbs

You can use these either at the beginning or the end of a phrase.

I went to Greece on holiday two weeks ago.

or

Two weeks ago I went to Greece on holiday.

I had a strange dream last night.

or

Last night I had a strange dream.

Choose the correct words.

Modal verbs (1)

Talking about what you can and must do

can, be able to, must, have to

In this unit you learn about using modal verbs to talk about ability (what you can or are able to do), and obligation (what you must or have to do) in the past, present and future.

Tom	Hi Alex. Did you have a good evening?
Alex	It was OK but I couldn't go swimming because the pool was closed.
Tom	That's a shame. Are you able to go another time?
Alex	Yes, but not today because I have to do my homework. What did you do?
Tom	I had to tidy my room and then I played with my new game. You must try it. It's great.
Alex	I'd like that. Anyway I must go now. I mustn't miss my bus.

Verb	Past form	Present form	Future form can	He couldn't go swimming. They couldn't find him. Could you see anything?	I can swim very well. I can't drive. Can you buy me one?	_
be able to	They were able to buy one. She wasn't able to finish it. Were you able to get a table?	They're able to walk there. I'm not able to see him. Are you able to text me?	I'll be able to see you again. I won't be able to go. Will he be able to finish it? must		I must go now. I mustn't be late. Must you do that?	- have to	I had to tidy my room yesterday. I didn't have to do any homework. Did you have to leave early?	I have to do my homework. You don't have to come with us. Do you have to go now?	I'll have to go another time. I won't have to buy one. Will they have to walk?

Must and have to

You can often choose between must or have to.

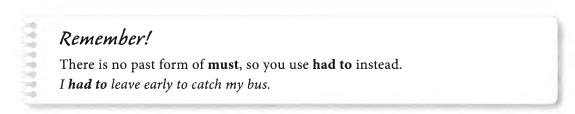

I'd like to go but I have to / must do some work.

If you are talking about something which someone has told you to do, you use have to.

I have to be back by 10 p.m. (My parents have told me to do this.) In England, you have to drive on the left. (This is the law.)

The meaning of mustn't and don't have to is different.

We don't have to bring any food to the party. (It's not necessary.)
You mustn't bring your own food to the restaurant. (You can't do this, it's not allowed.)

Can and be able to

You can use be able to instead of can to talk about ability.

He can / is able to run faster than me. He couldn't / wasn't able to eat all his dinner.

You also use be able to to talk about ability in the future.

When I pass my driving test, I'll be able to drive on my own.

Modal verbs (2)

Talking about what you might do, but aren't sure about could, might, may, will probably

In this unit you learn about using modal verbs to talk about possibility and probability using could, might, may and will probably.

May and might

You use may and might to talk about something which is possible, but we are not sure about.

In the present

- A Have you seen David?
- B He might be in his room.
- A No, he isn't. I've looked.
- B He may be at the shops then.

In the future

- A Have you got any plans for this evening?
- B I might go to the cinema. Do you want to come?
- A No thanks. I may just stay at home and watch a DVD.

The meaning of may and might in these sentences is the same.

Remember!

For negatives, you add not or n't to might.

It mightn't rain.

For may, you only add not.

He may not come.

Could

You can also use could to talk about something you are not sure about in the present or future.

Be quiet. He could be asleep.

It could be too hot to go to the beach tomorrow.

Could we save enough money to go on holiday?

Will probably

You use will probably when you are more sure about something.

Passive

Passive verbs in the present and past is, are, was, were + past participle

In this unit you learn about using the passive to talk about actions in the past and present.

You form the passive with the verb be and the past participle (e.g. made, told).

	Passive be + past participle
Present simple	Past simple	Present perfect
Paper is made from wood.	The building was completed in 1853.	All the rooms have just been painted.
A: When is the room cleaned? B: Every day.	A: When was the film made? B: In 2012.	A: Have you been served yet? B: No, I'm still waiting.
Pineapples aren't grown in Scotland.	His homework wasn't done very well.	The book hasn't been written yet.

You often use the passive when the object of the verb is more important than the subject, so They completed the building in 1853.

becomes

The building was completed in 1853.

In passive sentences, you use by before the person or thing that causes the action (the agent).

J.K. Rowling wrote the Harry Potter books. (active)

The Harry Potter books were written by J.K. Rowling. (passive)

If you do not know who the agent is, or it is clear who it is, you don't need to use it.

His wallet was stolen (by someone) while he was on holiday.

Letters are delivered (by the postman) every morning.

Remember!

Most past participles end in -ed. Some are irregular:

 $do \rightarrow done$

 $eat \rightarrow eaten$

 $drive \rightarrow driven$

 $write \rightarrow written$

 $see \rightarrow seen$

 $read \rightarrow read$

Match the sentences with the pictures.

1 The letters are collected twice a day.

Question tags

You use question tags to check if something is true or if someone agrees with you.

You were born in London, weren't you?

The weather's been had this week, hasn't it?

Short answers with yes/no questions

It is more polite to give a short answer to a yes/no question than simply saying yes or no.

- A: Do you like living here?
- B: Yes, I do.
- A: Have you seen the film yet?
- B: No, I haven't.
- A: You don't like him, do you?
- B: Yes, I do.

Forming question tags and short answers

With the verb be and auxiliary and modal verbs (be, have, will, can, could, must, should, etc.) you form the question tag and short answer with the same verb.

Main verb	Question tag	Example	Short answer
it is	isn't it?	It's a nice day today, isn't it?	Yes, it is.
she can't	can she?	She can't drive, can she?	No, she can't.
you should	shouldn't you?	You should tell them, shouldn't you?	Yes, I should.
he has worked	hasn't he?	He's worked there a long time, hasn't he?	Yes, he has.
they were eating	weren't they?	They were eating pizza last night, weren't they?	Yes, they were
it was built	wasn't it?	It was built in 1970, wasn't it?	Yes, it was.
I'll see	won't !?	I'll see you later, won't I?	Yes, you will.

Remember!

If the main verb is positive, the question tag is negative: They aren't coming, are they?

If the main verb is negative, the question tag is positive: You haven't worked here long, have you?

With all other verbs, you form the question tag and short answer with do.

Main verb	Question tag	Example	Short answer
you live	don't you?	You live in Germany, don't you?	Yes, I do.
she likes	doesn't she?	She likes pasta, doesn't she?	Yes, she does.
he swam	didn't he?	He swam from England to France, didn't he?	Yes, he did.
we visited	didn't we	We visited them last year, didn't we?	Yes, we did.

expect	l expect	him	to phone this evening

Remember!

You can use help with or without to.

I helped her (to) choose a dress for the party.

Verb + indirect object + direct object

Some verbs, for example tell, ask, take and give can be followed by an indirect and direct object:

My brother told my sister a story.

In this sentence, story is the direct object and sister is the indirect object.

She always asks me lots of questions.

I want to give my Mum a present.

Remember!

If the indirect object comes after the direct object, you need to put to before it:

My brother told a story to my sister.

I want to give a present to my Mum.

Pronouns and adjectives

other, another, one/s

In this unit you learn ways of using other and another as adjectives and pronouns.

Other used as an adjective

You use other as an adjective before a singular or plural noun

• with the:

This room is quite small. The other room is much bigger. The other shops are on the second floor.

• with expressions of quantity (some, any, a few, etc.):

I've got some other DVDs at home. I'll bring them tomorrow. Have you got any other ideas?

• with possessive adjectives (my, his, your, etc.):

I lost my other shoes so I'm wearing these old ones.

Another used as an adjective

You use another

• before a singular countable noun to mean one more:

Would you like another cup of coffee? They had another house in the mountains.

before numbers:

We're going to stay there for another three weeks. (= three more weeks)

Other and another before one/ones

My phone is very old. I'm going to get another one. (= another phone)
I quite liked his new film but I think his other ones were much better. (= other films)

Others and another as pronouns

You can use others and another as pronouns. The meaning is the same as another one and other ones.

I really liked that ice cream. I'm going to get another.

A: Have we eaten all the apples?

B: No, there are some others in the kitchen.

A: Where are the others?

B: They're watching TV.

Remember!

You usually put the, a quantity word like some or any, a number or a possessive adjective (my, his, your, etc.) before others.

We've watched all the DVDs. There aren't any others to watch.

Exercise 1

Match the two parts.

Relative pronouns and reflexive pronouns who, which, that; myself, yourself

In this unit you learn about relative clauses with who, which and that. You also learn to use reflexive pronouns (myself, yourself, etc.).

Relative clauses

You use relative clauses to say exactly who or what you are talking about.

I've got two brothers. One lives in Paris and the other lives in New York.

The brother who lives in Paris loves football.

The brother who lives in New York plays the guitar.

You use who, which or that before a relative clause.

Relative pronoun	For	Example
who or that	people	That's the girl who/that works in the post office.
which or that	things	I saw a house which/that looked very old.

In these sentences, the relative pronoun is the subject of the relative clause.

The relative pronoun can also be the object of the relative clause.

Look at these two sentences:

I wanted to buy a computer. It was very expensive.

You can make one sentence from these two sentences using that.

The computer that I wanted to buy was very expensive.

You can use that to talk about things or people.

I saw a girl. She was very pretty.

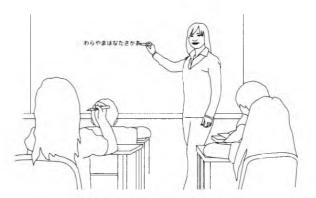

The girl that I saw was very pretty.

Reflexive pronouns

You can use a reflexive pronoun to show that you did something to yourself and not to another person or thing.

She's teaching them Japanese.

Subject pronoun	Object pronoun	Reflexive pronoun
l	me	myself
you	you	yourself (singular) yourselves (plural)
he	him	himself
she	her	herself
it	it	itself
we	us	ourselves
they	them	themselves

These are some verbs that you often use with a reflexive pronoun.

cut	She cut herself while she was preparing the vegetables.
dry	We got out of the swimming pool and dried ourselves.
enjoy	They really enjoyed themselves at the concert.
help	Help yourself to more food.
hurt	Don't climb up there. You'll hurt yourself!
look after	He's old enough to look after himself.

You also use reflexive pronouns to show that you can do something without help.

I drove the car myself.

These cakes are really nice. Did you make them yourself?

You can use by himself/themselves, etc. to mean alone.

A: Did you go to the cinema with your sister?

B: No, I went by myself.

each other

Jane emails Sunil. Sunil emails Jane.

They email each other.

4	I'm going to the shops because we've run of bread.
5	I usually get at 7 a.m. on school days and leave home at 8.
6	I need to put the clean cups and plates in the kitchen.

Exercise 6

Choose the correct word or words.

- 1 I need to look after / up a word in the dictionary.
- 2 Please turn on / off the light because I can't see.
- 3 I need to get out of / up early tomorrow morning.
- 4 If you're cold, put on / off your sweater.
- 5 James had to look up / for his keys before he left.
- 6 Sarah stopped the car and switched on / off the engine.

Requests, offers and invitations

let me, shall, would you, can, could, may

In this unit you learn ways of making and responding to offers, invitations and requests.

Offering

You can use these phrases to offer to do things.

Let me carry your suitcase.	Thanks.
Shall I go to the shops with you?	Thank you.
Can I help you?	It's OK, thank you.
Do you need any more money?	No, I'm OK, thanks.

Inviting

You can invite people to do things with these phrases.

Would you like to see a film tomorrow?	Yes, I'd love to.
What about playing tennis this afternoon?	Thanks, but I'm going shopping.
Shall we go for a walk?	No, I'm sorry. I'm too tired.

Requesting

To make requests you can use these phrases

• to ask someone to do something:

Can you open the window, please?	Yes, of course.
Could you tell me the time?	I'm sorry, I haven't got a watch.
Would you mind turn ing the TV down, please? It's very loud.	Not at all. (= I don't mind and I will do what you request)

• to ask if you can do something:

Can I leave early today, please?	No, I'm sorry. We're very busy.
Could I borrow your laptop?	Yes, of course.
May I ask you a question?	Of course.

May and could are more polite than can.

Remember!
Most of the phrases are followed by the infinitive: Can I help you?
But would you mind and what about are followed by -ing. Would you mind closing the window?

Exercise 1

Match the two parts.

- 1 Would you like a drink?
- 2 Do you need anything else?
- 3 Shall I call a taxi for you?
- 4 Let me take your suitcase.
- 5 Would you mind turning your music off?
- 6 Can you show me how to play this game?

- a The instructions are in the box.
- b Thanks it's really heavy!
- c Do you have any extra pillows?
- d Yes can they pick us up in half an hour?
- e No problem, sorry.
- f I've just had one, thanks.

Exercise 2

For each question, tick the correct answer.

1	Can I at your new phone? look looking to look
2	Let me you a drink. ☐ getting ☐ get ☐ to get
3	Shall we that new app? to download downloading download
4	Would you like out for dinner tonight? ☐ to go ☐ go ☐ going
5	What about a film this weekend? ☐ see ☐ seeing ☐ to see

Exercise 3 Put a cross (X) by the questions or sentences that do not belong, as shown. 1 Requesting May I use your phone? Not at all, any time. Could you close the door? What about pizza for lunch? 2 Offering Would you like some cheese? Would you mind giving me that file? Let's join the tennis club. Shall I book the holiday? 3 Inviting May I have another cake? Would you like to come round this evening? Let me take you out. Could you tell me the right answer, please? 4 Accepting offers and invitations Good idea. I'm sorry, I'm busy. Let's not do that.

Exercise 4

I'd love to.

Put the correct response in each gap.

	No, thanks. I'm not hungry. I'm sorry, I'm going out with Jim tonight. Of course – but don't break it! I've just sat down – maybe the next one! Not at all. Great. I can wear my new walking boots. Thanks, but I'm busy on Saturday. Sure. Here you are.
1	Do you want to dance to this song?
2	What about going hiking tomorrow?
3	Can I get you a sandwich?
4	Could you pass me that magazine?
5	Would you mind switching the light on?
б	Would you like to go camping this weekend?
7	Can I borrow your MP3 player?
8	Shall we go to the sports centre this evening?

Exercise 5 Put each sentence into the correct order. 1 can / help / your / project / with / l / you /? 2 towel for / do / need / beach / you / the / a /? 3 washing-up/let/do/me/the/. 4 orange / about / what / a / glass / of /? 5 afternoon / you / like / would / come / swimming this / to /? 6 mind / you / me / helping / homework / with / my / would /? - 3 Can I do you anything to help?
- 4 Do you need for anything from the supermarket?
- 5 Would you like it some more pasta?
- 6 Can you please to close the door?

Agreeing, disagreeing and telling people what you want and need

In this unit you learn about how to agree and disagree, and how to tell people what you want or need and what they must do.

Agreeing and disagreeing

Martina That was a brilliant film.

Anna I don't agree. I think it was boring. Don't you think that the acting was bad?

Martina No, not really. It's true that Jack Green was not very good in it but, in my opinion, it was the best film so far this year.

Anna I don't think so.

I agree / don't agree that	Do / Don't you agree that?	I agree / don't agree (with you).
I think / don't think that	Do / Don't you think that?	I think / don't think so.
It's true that	Is it true that?	It's true / It's not true.
In my opinion

Expressing necessity and obligation

You can use these verbs to talk about what it is necessary or important for you to do or have.

• need to + verb; need + noun:

Can you be quiet. I need to finish this. It's late. Do you need to order a taxi? I need a new mobile phone. This one's really old.

must and have to:

I'm cooking dinner tonight. I must go to the shops.

A: Do you have to leave now?

B: Yes, I have to catch the next train.

You must text me when you get there.

Remember!

You use mustn't if it is important not to do something: You mustn't make too much noise at the party.

You use don't have to if it is not necessary to do something:

She doesn't have to bring any food to the party.

See Unit 17 for more about must and have to.

Suggesting, advising and saying that you're sure

In this unit you learn to say how certain you are about something, how to give advice and make suggestions.

Expressing certainty

Dan Look over there. I'm sure that's Maria playing tennis.

Sam No, it can't be. I've just seen her at the library.

Dan Are you sure?

Sam Yes, I'm sure. I spoke to her there.

Dan It could be her sister, Jo, then.

Sam Of course, she's got a twin sister, hasn't she? It must be Jo.

Are you sure?
lt's certain	It's possible	It's not certain	It's not possible
I'm sure / It must be	It could be	I'm not sure	It can't be

Giving advice

In Unit 19 you looked at ways of giving advice. Here are some other ways:

Gina I need to get more exercise. What can I do?

Tim I think you should join a gym.

Gina It's too expensive.

Tim Why don't you go for a run every day? That's free.

Making suggestions

Anna and Alex are planning their weekend. Look at the phrases they use to make suggestions.

Anna What shall we do this weekend?

Alex What about going to the new shopping centre?

Anna I went there last week. Why don't we go to the park and play tennis?

Alex That's a good idea. Let's go to that new café afterwards.

Anna OK. Shall we ask Sara to come too?

Alex Yes, let's do that.

Remember!

Shall we go ...?

Let's go ...

Why don't we go ...?

BUT

What about going ...?
